

COMMISSIONED ASTROLABE

*A commissioned piece for a site-specific project.

This piece explores Alison's ongoing interest in creating contemporary forms from historical and scientific apparatuses. It is inspired from a 16th century hand held astrolabe device that was used to chart the stars along nautical pathways. The device is reinterpreted, increased to a sculptural scale for a site-specific location. Bronze, optical lenses, hand etched sheet glass.

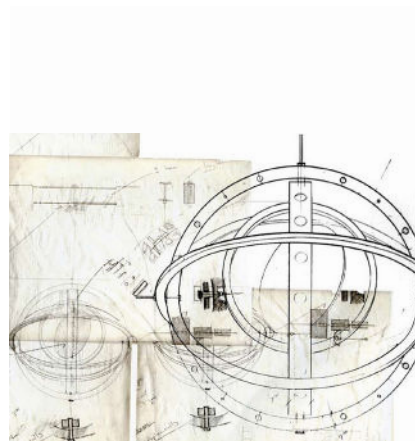

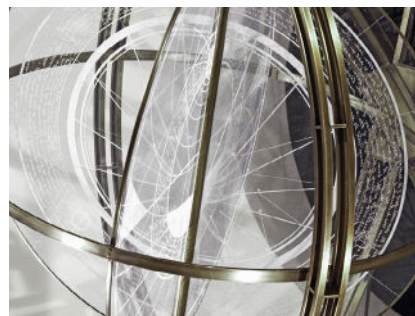

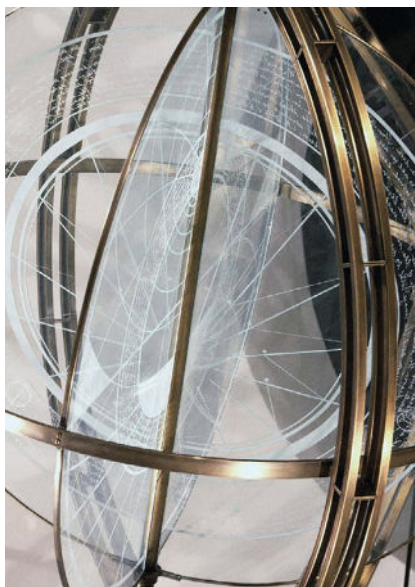

When necessary, reinforce the ceiling.
